

High School: The Museum as a Research Tool and Career Choice

Students learn the internal working of the Rochester Hills Museum at Van Hoosen Farm as they tour the archives and collection areas. They will be introduced to accession and inventory techniques and learn how displays are designed and maintained. Techniques of using primary and secondary resources for historical research will be presented using historic maps, artifacts, photographs, and more. Students will enjoy this wonderful opportunity to see the behind the scenes operation of their community's historical museum.
